

28th October – The Great Whin Sill, an igneous intrusion through the regular sedimentary geological successions of the Pennines, creates some of their most impressive landforms. It was utilised by Hadrian as the natural foundation for his monumental frontier fortification; it created the spectacular waterfalls of High and Low Force and Cauldron Snout; and it is responsible for perhaps one of the most exciting landscapes in the Pennines at High Cup nick. The glaciated valley of High Cop bites deeply into the western scarp of the Pennines above Dufton, but what gives High Cup its unique character is the upstanding horseshoe-shaped frieze of dolerite crags, formed of the Whin Sill, which rims the canyon. High Cup Nick comes as a spectacular highlight on the Pennine Way, and a welcome relief to the weary Wayfarer plodding the long moorland miles from Cauldron Snout across Golden Mea and the soggy valley of Maize Beck. Suddenly the world is at your feet.

General bookings will open at 9am on Monday 16th October; 'privileged' bookings made prior to this date are accepted on the basis of a private vehicle being made available to be used, if necessary, as Club transport.

30th September- Although not the highest hill in the Yorkshire Dales, Ingleborough is generally acknowledged to be the finest in Yorkshire. Every Yorkshire-man, it is said, should climb it once before he dies, and such is its presence that some still believe it to be a mile high. In my view the finest way up Ingleborough is not that used by the 'Three-Peakers', but from the south, from Clapham village. It passes such interesting incidental attractions as the beautiful Ingleborough Estate, Ingleborough Cave, Trow Gill and Gaping Gill, perhaps the most famous pothole of them all.
